

SAVE THE DATE:
SUNDAY MAY 2, 2010
DETROIT REPERTORY THEATRE

Tickets are $20 each Ticket price includes refreshments

2:00pm performance of Two Point Oh
Doors open at 1:00pm

All proceeds benefit the mission of Mariners Inn

Two Point Oh: "Jeffrey Jackson's quixotic play Two Point Oh places us firmly on a tenuous fence between reality and virtual reality. We are party to a deep and profound love steeped in the real world which suddenly finds devotion straddling a precipice to a cyber one. Simultaneously we are moved and frightened. Our mind begins to play tricks. What's true? What's real? What's virtual? What's manufactured? What's us? What does the "Oh" in the title of the play signify? When a world renowned CEO and computer genius tries to create a cyber copy of human feelings and intelligence, love and life in the human world is pushed to the brink...of what? What happens when the mortal world is challenged by a nonreligious immortal one?"

Contact Doreen Webb at 313-962-9446 ext. 230 or dwebb@marinersinn.org to purchase tickets